

Fire Safety and Awareness, Fire Training

Under the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 strict new regulations have been introduced which applies to non-domestic premises throughout England and Wales. It places a direct responsibility on owners/guardians of buildings to comply with regards to Risk Assessments, Training and the recording of both. All staff should receive fire training to ensure they are aware of the location of fire fighting equipment, identification and usage together with safe egress from the workplace.

Local Fire Authorities now have the right to inspect premises to ensure the Order is in full compliance; they have the right to inspect all Risk Assessments and other administration in regard to the fire safety of your premises. Failure to comply may result in formal HSE involvement, Enforcement orders, a significant fine or up to 2 years imprisonment.

HMTG can deliver on-site Fire Awareness training by experienced fire-fighters for your staff. We can also organise a Risk Assessment of your premises in relation to the Order checking appropriate signage and Extinguishers and offer advice and remedial action.

- Insight into Fire Awareness Regulations
- Action in the event of a fire
- Evacuation and Reporting of Fires
- Classification of fires
- Methods of extinguishing fires
- Types of extinguishers and alarms
- Chemistry of fires
- Theoretical Application of Fire Extinguishers
- Practical Application of Fire Extinguishers (POA)
- Open forum

Who should attend?

All staff

What they will learn?

Basic Fire Fighting theory and practice

Course Duration

3/4 hours

Assessment

Continuous assessment by trainer

Certificate

Valid for 1 year